BOYCOTTING THE OPERATORS

HOW KNIGHTS OF LABOR WILL AID THE LEHIGH MINERS.

Storekeepers and Business Men in the Valley Will Be Asked to Join the Movement —Expected to Withdraw Their Traffic from the Lehigh Valley Railroad — Arrangements for a Benefit Entertalament

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Friends of the striking miners of the Lehigh coal fields yesterday decided to employ the boycott as a weapon against the leading corporations and firms in the Lehigh region whom they regard as the most dangerous adversaries in the present struggle. While the output of coal shipped by the Lehigh operators has heretofore been made the object of the boycott, the measure will from now on be directed against the operators themselves and their business interests.

Yesterday afternoon a secret meeting of leaders in railroad employees' organizations was held down-town and at this meeting the foregoing plan of action was adopted. There were thirty-five persons present, representatives of Pennsylvania Railroad Employees' District Assembly 212: Reading Railroad Employees' Convention and employees of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, with a number of Lehigh Valley Railroad, with a number of representative miners. The situation of the strike was discussed in detail and numerous schemes were advanced that were calculated to aid the striking miners. The determination to boycott the Lehigh operators, however, was the feature of the meeting and the discussion that led to it occupied the greater part of their time.

discussion that led to it occupied the greater part of their time.

Rather than allow their organization to be crushed, therefore, it was determined yester day by the leaders in the conference to institute a boycott on the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, the Lehigh Valley Railroad, A. Pardee & Sons and Eckley B. Coze & Co.

Railroad, A. Pardee & Sons and Eckley B. Coxe & Co.

In this step the Knights believe they will be aided by the leading business men of the entire Lehigh region, and it is proposed that immediate steps be taken to enforce the boycott in Mahanoy City, Shenandoah, Pottsville, Centralia, Asbland and in other towns along the line of the Lehigh Valley road. The business men and small merchants are already organized in these and other towns for the purpose of contributing moral and financial aid to the support of the miners, and these business men will be asked to refuse to patronize the highways or products of the interdicted roads and corporations. And if merchants, for instance, should patronize the Lehigh Valley road in the transportation of their goods the Knights in the various towns will refuse to deal with them. As a consequence the merchants and business men will be expected to withdraw their traffic from the Lehigh Valley road. The boycott will be instituted, it is said, within the coming week.

Extensive arrangements have been made for the benefit entertainment which will be given in the Academy of Music on Nov, 26 in aid of the Lehigh miners. Special trains will bring delegations of Knights from sll over the Reading Railroad, and at the close of the performance, which will be "Legardere; or, the Hunchback of Paris," a procession will be formed of the visiting Knights, who will be escorted to the railroad station by several bands of music.

TODD PUT ON HIS DEPENSE.

He Claims His Shop Differs from the Stock Exchange Only in Degree.

In the case of Elliott W. Todd, the Broad street bucket-shop keeper, indicted under the gambling act, Judge Cowing this morning denied the motion to direct the jury to acquit. He said in his decision that if it should turn out that the contracts for the purchase of stock were made as a cover to carry on gambling transactions, and that no stock was to be delivered or received, but the whole matter to be detarmined by the fluctuations of the market, bets or wagers being made simply on the rising or falling of the price of stock, then the case came within the provisions of the code. The Court of Appeals has held that it has no right to speculate as to whether this was the case or not. There was evidence in this case to the effect that a customer had demanded a delivery of stock, but was told that Mr. Todd did not deal in stocks. This evidence was not denied, and was sufficient under the decisions of the Court of Appeals to put Mr. Todd on his defense.

Counsellor Freland H. Smith took an exception to the rulings of the Court. Then his associate, Luther Emmerson, opened for Todd by sayings that the case ought not to be entitled. "The People against Todd." but "The New York Stock Exchange against Todd." He then went on to argue that there was no more to indicate that the business of Mr. Todd's office was of a gambling character than that carried on in any broker's office on the street. Taking advantage of the term "bucket shop" as applied to his client's business he said it was a happy comparison a bucketful as to the great ocean of speculation of the Stock Exchange, but the contents of the ocean and the bucket were the same.

Charles H. Garland, Todd's cashier, was the first witness for the defense. He said that customers would be accommodated with stock if they paid and asked for it. He said in his decision that if it should turn out that the contracts for the purchase of

ONE ANTI-POVERTY METHOD.

S. C. W. Irwin Accused of Getting $120 on Palse Protenses from Henry George.

A special despatch to THE WORLD ancounced to-day that Henry George accused one S. C. W. Irwin of having obtained $125 him on false pretenses. Mr. George's office it was said today that Irwin, who came from Crawfordsville, Ind., applied to Mr. George for work in the Standard office, and getting employment, readily ingratiated himself into the good graces of Mr. George and others.

On the plea of having an invalid wife and being sorely in need of funds, Irwin obtained from Mr. George a check for $120, with the understanding that he was to send his wife to Boston and refund the amount in instalments. Irwin disappeared on Sunday week and was not heard from again until a few days ago, when a letter came from him announcing that his love for his wife had prompted him to accompany her, and that he had obtained employment in Boston.

A man called at Mr. George's office to-day to say that Irwin owed him $5 for addressing wrappers which Irwin himself should have attended to.

The Wosho's despatch says that Irwin borrowed money and distinguished himself in other ways at Glens Falls, in this State. Mr. George proposes to post him all over the United States and Canada. Irwin is rather stout, smooth-faced, with brown hair and eyes, and of medium height. His age is about thirty-five years. Crawfordsville, Ind., applied to Mr. George

"I do not consider it wise to do so in the present state of affairs. I do believe that the land tax remedy is best for that country, but its advocacy would be met at the present time with a strong opposition on the part of the leaders of the proprietary system, and I think I could accomplish more among the people in England and Scotland. Mr. George made but two addresses in Ireland during his sojourn, and then, I understand, he was threatened with suppression by some of Mr. Davitt's friends."

"Then you do not think the proprietary system is good one for Ireland?"

"It is not. I think that it would be even worse than the present landlordism. It has been tried in Belgium, and the people are worse off to-day than ever. I think I can accomplish more among the working classes in England and Scotland than I can by going into Ireland and inviting opposition and a controversy. Byron H. Bird, the druggist who took two ents' worth of prussic acid in Room 216, at the Grand Union Hotel, last evening, with suicidal intent, was reported as out of danger in Bellevue Hospital this morning. He will recover. He is confined in the iron caged ward for prisoners at the Hospital.

A despatch was received by THE EVENING World this morning from Poughkeepsie saying that it is not believed there that Byron Bird attempted suicide, but feigned it. He did the same thing about two or three years ago in Duteness County. His father was lessee of the old Forbes House twenty years ago. Byron has been a very erratic son.

I owned the property, and at the death of my husband I had an income of $5,000 a year from my property. But by a technicality in two mortgages, one held by me and one given by me, I lost it all. Byron became a druggist and chemist. He has always commanded a good salary. He saved money and in 1889, having come to the conclusion that he did not love his wife, who was his cousin, Ada Herbert, of Bridgeport, he left her and the situation which he had held for nine years with G. C. Hamilton in Bridgeport. He went to Lake City, Idaho, and established himself in business. He finally sold out and went to Gunnison, Col. In 1883 he sold out there and started for home. In Denver a hackdriver found him in a demented condition and robbed him of some thousands of dollars. ### JOHN SHEEHAN'S SKULL BROKEN. The Discovery Made Three Days After as saloon at Seventy-sixth street and Third avenue, was taken under arrest to the Coroner's office to-day, charged with having fatally clubbed John Sheehan, a young coachman of 1729 First avenue.

The trouble occurred election night, when there was a large crowd in McCoy's saloon. Sheehan was there with his friend, Thomas Mullane, of 1591 First avenue. A well-known Republican politician was treating the boys and Mullane says that he and Sheehan were invited to name their drinks.

After the close of his address in Steinway Hall last night, Dr. McGlynn was met by a reporter for The Evening Wohld, who asked him if it were true that he was going abroad.

"I have received from friends of Mr. George in England and Scotland," Dr. McGlynn replied, "pressing invitations to go to those countries and address the people on the land tax doctrine, and I contemplate making the journey in January or February, but there is nothing definitely settled about it yet."

"Will you visit Ireland?"

"I do not consider it wise to do so in the present state of affairs. I do believe that the land tax remedy is best for that country, but its advocacy would be met at the present time with a strong opposition on the part of the leaders of the proprietary system, and I think I could accomplish more among the people in England and Scotland. "They kept on ordering after their host left, and Hepenstal put in a claim for forty-five cents. Neither Sheehan nor Mullane would pay, and high words ensued.

Pittsburgers Indignant Over the Anarchist Meeting Which Was Held Yesterday.

CLARA BELLE M'DONALD'S CASE. Swain, Her Paramour, Has Gone to Council

Bluffs-Is He the Forger ? [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] BAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14 .- The McDonald ase has taken an unexpected turn.

It will be recalled that Clara Belle McDonald attempted to shoot her father-in-law, Dr. R. H. McDonald, in Baldwin's Hotel, Oct. 21. She is the defendant in a divorce suit in which her husband accuses her of too great intimacy with Seneca Augustus Swain, a sporting man with whom she became infatusted. On Friday she was arrested on five charges of forgery on complaint of Senator Stanford, through an agent, who accuses her of selling to Mr. Stanford for $10,000 some Central Pacific stock to which the indorsement was forged. In default of $15,000 bail she and her little girl were locked up.

The little girl was taken seriously ill yesterday in prison. The poor child lay moaning and imploring her mother to take her from the dark, damp cellar, known as the city prison. Finally the Chief of Police consented that mother and child should take a drive and afterward on the certificate of a physician allowed Clara Bells to go home and stay under surveillance. The baby got worse as the carriage neared the home and the mother also became quite ill. The Doctor says she was taken with successive hemhorrages which have increased in violance, and her condition is now critical.

Last evening Swain, her paramour, who is supposed to have been the real forger of her certificates left suddenly for Council Bluffs carrying several trunks.

The police have the theory that Clara Belle would have joined him in his flight if it had been possible. Undoubtedly she will obtain bail to-day.

The speech of Dr. McGlynn at the Anti-Poverty meeting last night has stirred up the organized labor leaders to such an extent that a split between the Anti-Povertyites and that a split between the Anti-Povertyites and the regular true United Labor party adherents is imminent.

A meeting of the County General Committee of the United Labor party will be held on Thursday evening next in Clarendon Hall, when the matter will be discussed and a future policy mapped out.

The George men attribute the blame for the great falling off in their vote partly to the leaders of the Knights of Labor. They accuse them of using their positions as officers of District and Local Assemblies to influence the labor vote in behalf of the Democracy in general and Col. Fellows in particular. T. B. Mc. Guire, of the General Executive Board of the Knights, and James E. Quinn and others of District Assembly No. 49, come in for a share of the general condemnation.

Open accusations of corruption on election day are made against Knights who are prominent in certain Assembly districts, and have influence with their brethren all over the city.

ATTEMPTED SELF-CREMATION.

Mildred Tyler, After a Kerosens Shower Bath, Sets Herself on Fire.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] Boston, Nov. 14 .- Mildred Tyler, colored thirty years old, attempted suicide at Cambridge yesterday. The method by which she sought to relieve herself of her earthly cares was a novel one. She lived at the rear of 33 Hastings street, where for several days she has brooded over the absence of her husband.

Yesterday she retired to an upper room and, having undressed, she poured a large quantity of kerosene over the upper portion of her light dress. This she immediately set on fire with a match and then prepared to die. The pain endured by the burning garment in close proximity to her flesh caused her to scream lustily for help.

The neighbors rushed in only to find her in an almost frenzied condition and horribly burned.

She was removed to the Cambridge Hospital, where it was found that her injuries will prove fatal. The neighbors believe her to be insane over the absence of her husband, the latter having informed her at the time of leaving that he never intended to return.

Dr. Moritz Schmidt Makes an Examination, and Sends a Disheartening Report to the Kaiser-His Imperial and Royal Highness Will Remain at San Remo-London Socialists Want to Have Another Meeting.

(SPECIAL CABLE TO THE EVENING WORLD.) Beslin, Nov. 14.—Hopes that were in some puarters still cherished must now be abanloned, and the public will no longer be able to entertain the smallest doubt as to the grave nature of the malady from which the heir to the Imperial Throne of Germany is suffering.

Saturday's Imperial and Royal Gasette publishes the following:

" According to news from San Remo there s, unhappily, no longer any doubt that the malady of His Imperial and Royal Highness the Crown Prince has in reality the pature of carcinoma. Trustworthy information as to further treatment will only be possible after Dr. Moritz Schmidt, who was sent to San Remo by command of the Kaiser, shall have made his verbal report here."

LATER-The report made to-day by Prof. Schmidt to the Kaiser leaves no doubt as to the cancerous nature of the Crown Prince's malady. For the present, however, there is no thought of an operation or of the patient's emoval from San Remo to Berlin.

The report made a sad impression upon the Kaiser, whose spirits are necessarily low, but physically his physicians are thoroughly satisfied with his state of health.

LONDON'S DEFEATED MOB.

Augry at the Police and Arranging for An other Sunday Meeting.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Thousands of people in this great city did not know that there was almost a riot last evening until they read it in the newspaper this morning. New Yorkers who followed the description I sent to THE WORLD last night know as much about the trouble as does the newspaper reader in London.

To-day the promptness of the police is commended by people and press. Unloubtedly it was intended as a test case and the guardians of the public peace proved themselves equal to the emergency. A little foresight is worth a "beap" of hind sight, and Sir Charles Warren has shown his clearheadedness in having the militia ready for an emergency.

The police are making the rounds of the will not exceed the estimates sent last night. So far as can be learned, about thirty people applied at public pharmacies and hospitals to have wounds in the head dressed, which were evidently the result of a policeman's club. A dozen policeman were more or less njured in the scrimmage.

The police are not yet all gone from Trafalgar Square, though the majority of them were dismissed before midnight and the military returned to their barracks soon after nightfall. Three hours after the row ever are. The Radicals are very angry and much excited over the repulse and are arranging for another attempt at a meeting next Sunday.

though there is no prospect of a renewal of the rioting before next Sunday.

The preparations made by the rioters yes terday were very extensive. A wagon load of arms was captured near Waterloo Bridge this morning. The Prince of Wales sent food to the police on guard last night and personally thanked them.

NO STAY FOR COL. GEBHARD.

THE NEW YORK CLUB NOT ENJOINED FROM EXPELLING HIM.

Judge Barrett Decides That the Question is Primarily One of Honor Between Gentlemen-The Club Tribunal the Preper One-Of the Opinion That Counsel Should

Be Allowed to Appear for the Defense. Judge Barrett gave a decision to-day in Col. Edward Gebhard's suit to enjoin the New York Club from expelling him. The permanent injunction is denied and the temporary stay dissolved with costs. In his decision, Judge Barrett says:

porary stay dissolved with costs.

In his decision, Judge Barrett says:

The injunction is asked upon an inaccurate conception of the real disput between the plaintiff and the club. It is not a question of the character or propriety of the plaintiff's bil, but one of honor between gentlemen. The charge, in substance, is that the plaintiff having obtained a favorable and it of his accounts upon a distinct promise that he would suitacquently recast it so as to meet the approval of the Board has violated his place, refused either to recast the bill or to restore the original status, and has retained the money, even after the Board's reclasion of the audit.

It is also charged that this repudiation of an honorable understanding was aggravated by evasion with regard to the pledge itself and by the recall, in an unseemly manner, of a letter upon the subject addressed by the plaintiff to the president of the club. It surely needs no extended discussion to point out that the issue raised by the plaintiff to the president of the club. It surely needs no extended discussion to point out that the issue raised by the plaintiff to the plaintiff carnest denial of these charves is an appropriate one to be neared by the club itself under its constitution and by-laws.

These are questions of honor between gentlemen, with which the courts have primarily nothing to do. Now, surely the board may lawfully as that it considers the conduct of the plaintiff, sould the charges be proved, as dangerous to the dangerous to the character of any association of genilemen to have among them a member who has secured money, however bonessity earned by dishonorable means, and who retains he were legally, by discrediting a fellow member's word and repudisting his own.

A Court of Equity will undoubtedly see to it that he accused member has a fair hearing and that he shall retain his membership unsired, by mere force of our injunction.

It will not do to say that because the original dispute was with the club itself, the Board of Directors is inco for upon questions of club discipline were he signed the constitution. But the plaintiff's charges are fully met by the opposing papers. Further, the judgment of the Board of Directors is not final. The question of a far hearing can only be solved when all the proceedings thereon are before us. Upon the hearing the plaintiff can object to any particular member of the Board, and if good and sufficient reasons for his challenge are furnished the member my fire. If he remains the reason can subsequently be weighed when the Coart issaked to reinstee, upon the claim that the ordinary principles of natural justice have been violated. The jurors provided for in the organic law of the club are not to be lightly set aside. They are disqualified only when their setting is judgment is under clear and coavlacing facis manifestly repugnant to these principles of justice which should govern in every lequiry, towever informal.

So as to the denial of counsel, the President had no more sutherity in this matter than any other member of the board. The plaintiff, if he deared to raise this point effectually, should have appeared with his counsel before the board at the time and place appointed for the hearing, and should then and there have claimed his privilege. He may still do so. If it is denied, the question will then be properly up for decision. I may say, however, that my impression favors the plaintiff's content to the first of the second of the plaintiff's content in the regard, and I should deeply regret to learn that the assistance of counsel had been denied to any man stroggling against an accusation involving not only he interests, but his hohor by a respectable and enlightened body of American gentlemen.

When Col. Gebhard obtained an injunction

When Col. Gebhard obtained an injunction

When Col. Gebhard obtained an injunction restraining the New York Club from expelling him, one of his principal charges was that a member of the Governing Committee was opposed to him because he had caught him cheating at cards. In his complaint he charged Nat Whitman with the offense. Mr. Whitman, who is a reputable business man of the firm of Lesser, Whitman & Co., became very much incensed at the charge and asked the club to appoint a committee to investigate. The club did, and instructed its secretary to send Col. Gebhard the following letter. This and Mr. Gebhard's reply are subjoined:

Mr. Edward Gebbard.

DEAR SIR: I am instructed to notify you to appear before the Board of Direction of the New York Yacht Club at a meeting to be held at the club-house on Monday, the 14th of November, 1887, at 8.80 r. M., there to prove and substantiate the charge made by you against Mr. Nathaniel Whitman of cheating at cerds. Nov. 8, 1887. HENRY C. WILLS. Secretary.

Nov. 8, 1887. HENRY C. WILLS. Secretary.

Sirs: I have the honor to acknowledg the receipt or your communication dated Nov. 8 and delivered to me on the lith inst. I am advised that the charge made by me against Mr. Whitman therein referred to was made in a legar pleasing and was privileged, and that as such charge did not specify that said set was committed in the club and such charge was made outside of the club itself, the club has no jurisdiction over the matter, and I therefore deny the right of the Board of Direction to Southy me to appear before them in relation thereto and shall not oney such instruction, but shall submit your letter with this reply to Judge Barrett as a violation or evasion of the injunction order heretofore served upon the New York Club and its Presidens.

If you attempt to proceed in this matter after the receipt of this letter and do any act prejudicial to me in any manner I shall seek legal redress.
